

Review of polyphenol bioavailability: How do polyphenols act inside the body?

Motoi Kikusato, PhD

Center for Food and Agricultural Immunology (CFAI), Food Evaluation Unit, Graduate School of Agricultural Science, Tohoku University

kikusato.m@tohoku.ac.jp

Motoi Kikusato is an Associate Professor in the Laboratory of Animal Nutrition and a member of the Food Evaluation Unit in the Graduate School of Agricultural Science, Tohoku University. Dr. Kikusato received his PhD in Nutrition and Metabolism in domestic chickens, and now focuses on heat stress-induced metabolic dysfunction, avian muscle physiology, food science, and polyphenol studies.