

Symposium Wrap Up, Stage 3

Fusao Ito

(CFAI, Graduate School of Agricultural Science, Tohoku University)

Fusao ITO is professor in laboratory of Agricultural Economics and Farm Management Science, Division Director of Cooperation with Society in International Education and Research Center for Food and Agricultural Immunology, Vice Dean of Graduate School of Agricultural Science, TOHOKU University. He also conducts the cooperation between University and Society, especially Firm, Farm, Ministry and Agency in Japan. He got PhD on Agricultural Economics from HOKKAIDO University in 1992. Currently, he contributes as a Vice President of the Farm Management Society of Japan in the research filed of Farm Management Development. His present research activities focus on the Human Resource Development in Farm Management, the Change of Food Consumption and Food Value Chain, Innovation of Production Technology and Rural Development.